HOPE DEFERRED

When congress voted to authorize construction of the Florida barge canal several months ago, and the President signed the bill, there was a good deal of elation around here. Many people figured that the canal was in the bag, and that work would start very soon, even though the bill only authorized the project, and did not provide funds.

It was felt that Mr. Roosevelt—who is now looked to for almost every thing that is to take place in this country—would somehow come through and provide the necessary funds. These enthusiasts figured, that since Mr. Roosevelt pretty much has his way about the spending of billions of dollars, he would have no trouble in providing the money for the canal. They have been expecting this news, that it was starting from day to day, although hope has been wearing a bit thin lately.

Now it appears that it is definitely certain that construction will not start until Congress actually appropriates the money, which is not likely until January or February, or much later. Major General Holt, assistant chief of the army engineers, said the other day: "We have no authority to go ahead on the canal until we have the money provided by Congress—Ocala Banner."

ALIEN WORKERS

Reasonable relaxation of federal regulations to permit the employment of aliens in non-secret war production, is a step in the right direction. Not only is it humane, but also is practical, since it makes available hundreds of thousands of needed workers. In wartime there is a tendency to beware of aliens. This surely is natural, if "alien" describes a person of foreign birth who has come to this country, partaken of its food, and lacked enough gratitude to assume citizenship.

But we cannot forget that among those who did become naturalized were only a few who did it only for subversive purposes. That among those not naturalized are many who have suffered greatly for their devotion to the principles for which we fight. It isn't sound to draw the conclusion that all aliens are untrustworthy and all citizens are democrats.—NEA Editorial.

BEYOND THE WAR

Production of the distilling industry to war production does not threaten prohibition through the distilling industry so far as can be ascertained. There is no apparent reason to expect any shortage of domestic whiskey for at least four or five years, and thus far the flow of British whiskey appears to be ample. The menace, if any exists, is to the quality of whiskey after the war. If we should use up existing stocks, without putting new quotas away to age, there would be some very poor whiskey on the market at some future time. But officials believe that small plants, incapable of conversion to war use, plus such output as can be spared from the larger ones, will be sufficient to avert this danger.

That is not necessarily true, unfortunately, of Scotch whiskey and Irish. Apparent scarcity of the necessary grains is making it impossible to replace aging stocks as they are used.—NEA Editorial.

MOTORISTS HAVE BEEN PENALIZED

Many motorists of Florida have been paying more than their share of the expense of road construction. They have been paying taxes on their real and personal property for county road and bridge bonds, and they have been paying three cents every time they buy a gallon of gasoline for the same purpose.

This is no reflection on county officials. They have been forced to take what they can get when they sell or refund county bonds and no interest rates in accordance with what the bond buyers believe to be their ability to pay. In some instances they have been forced to refund at a figure considerably below par, only to find that the refunding company, in a short time later, marks the bonds at a premium.

It will be different under the gas tax amendment proposed for ratification in November. This amendment will, in effect, provide for the payment of all of Florida's county road and bridge bond indebtedness—$178,971,198.27, incurred prior to July 1, 1931—and place behind it an ultimate fund of over $500,000,000, which it is estimated will accrue in 50 years under the amendment. With such credit, interest rates of 6, 5, 4, and even 3 percent, on county road bonds should be a thing of the past in Florida.

Even if war gas rationing reduces consumption in the State by 50 per cent for four years, there will still be enough money from the two-cent dividend provided by the amendment to cover for county road bond indebtedness without an valorem taxes for that purpose.

Those counties which have no road and bridge bond indebtedness will not be penalized. They will share along with indebted counties in proportion to their area, population, and contribution of roads. Their money will be used as follows: 80 per cent to build State roads in the county or take over and free toll bridges therein, and 20 per cent for construction and maintenance of county roads and bridges.

The motorists, instead of paying two taxes for highways, as at present, will pay but one tax for them: his gasoline tax, which is paid in proportion to the amount he uses the highways. Our residents and our visitors will pay this tax on absolutely the same basis.—Apopka Chief.

A RUMBLE IN THE REICH

Every schoolboy remembers the story of the Boston tea party, in which American colonists, disguised as Indians, threw British tea into the harbor and precipitated, at least advanced considerably, the revolution.

That story inevitably comes to mind when one reads about the German motor forces who, toward the end of the Russian front, into the streets and thereby brought rioting in Germany's biggest seaport.

Such an outbreak would be significant among the Reich. It indicates that even the sadistic repression of the gestapo has not broken the spirit of the Teutons beyond repair. It suggests that the people are taking to heart the shortages and pretensions of their own blockade of Germany is even more effective than we had supposed, or that Germans can't take it the way the British have.

The fact that the incident occurred in Hamburg opens other intriguing fields of speculation. It was there, in 1918, that sailors mutinied against the Kaiser's officers, which lighted waiting the collapse of his government. One shouldn't expect history to repeat itself too minutely, but it is human to hope.—Columbus (Ga.) Ledger.

A SPECIAL FAVOR

During a tour of Italy, the late Marie Dressler was conducted through the famous baths at Caracalla by her friend, the then American Ambassador, Richard Washburn Child. On one of the grounds they came upon a pair of gates which were locked, and Miss Dressler, peering through the bars glimpsed a lush garden of winding pathways and dark, forbidding recesses. Instantly she expressed a desire to go inside for a better view, but the attendant said, "It is impossible, Signora."

Mr. Child explained that he was the special factor to him and his country that he be allowed to conduct his guest into the forbidden grounds. Instantly the gates were flung open and the Americans bidden to enter and explore to their hearts' content. Vistas of great beauty unfolded before them as they wandered along among the trees and flowers and tall green grasses. Birds of sweet song and rich plumage flew about, charming the ear and eye of the beholder.

Back at the gates, Ambassador Child thanked the attendant for his courtesy and slipped a few shining lira into his upturned palm. "I don't understand," remarked the ambassador, "why the public is barred from such a lovely garden."

The attendant gave a barely perceptible shrug of his shoulders, bowed low, and replied, "I cannot explain, Excellency, unless it is because we expect the whole thing to come at any moment."—Collier's City News.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT CORPS

"The tide of war is running against us, and students now in high school may yet have to win the victory."

These were the words of Paul V. McNutt, war manpower chairman, spoken last week, and they should be given profound consideration by every citizen of this country. The Axis forces are winning the war as it stands today. We are certain in the end to defeat these forces of evil, but we have many months of previous, bloody, heart-breaking experiences ahead.

The Axis will not be defeated this year, probably not next year, and we may see three more winters before we can force them to surrender.

Hence it is very likely that boys now in high school will be called upon to help in the work of crushing the most serious threat yet made to worldwide peace.—Titusville Star-Advocate.

other classifications of tires and tubes, he said. These decreased will force local war price and ration board to give closer study to all applications.

Citrus Crop Is Unusually Good

Frankford, Oct. 1.—(FNS)—Major Edward T. Keenan, director of the U. S. Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, said today that the coming citrus crop "ex-

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

Washington bureaucrats, drunk with power, seem determined to crush all opposition to their establishment of a totalitarian control of the nation. Ruthlessly brushing aside every constitutional right of the sovereign states, bureau chiefs make their own rules and regulations and attempt to enforce their unbridled edicts with utter disregard of state laws and state authority.

But for the outrageous action of a "fighting" Attorney General, the National Labor Relations Board would have run roughshod over the constitutional law and authority in this state a few weeks ago.

Now comes the AAA with its bureaucratic bull whip leveled at the head of our Commissioner of Agriculture, Nathan Mayo, practically daring him to perform the duties the people of this state attached him to perform and which he cannot ignore without violating his oath of office.

That the laws of the State of Florida, as in most other states, all fertilizers shipped into this state must be inspected and labeled, which carries a printed analysis, and the Commissioner is authorized to collect a fee of 25c on each such inspection.

No fertilizer may be distributed or sold within the state that has not been inspected or on which the inspection fee has not been paid. The fertilizer inspection law is a good law, designed to protect our farmers and growers and insure their getting full measure and good quality in their fertilizer purchases. Ignoring the laws of the State of Florida, the AAA has refused to recognize the right of the state to make such inspection or collect inspection fees on fertilizer it ships into this state for sale to Florida farmers, and has even gone so far as to instruct local fertilizer dealers to do likewise.

Acting as constitutionally elected official, sworn to enforce the laws of this state, Commissioner Mayo recently issued a short order to AAA fertilizer and notified officials and fertilizer dealers that inspection fees would have to be paid on such shipments and if not so made the licenses of those dealers failing to comply would be revoked.

With typical bureaucratic arrogance, the AAA took the stand that a puppet state has no right to interfere with or question the actions of a federal bureau, constitution or no constitution. They contend that this particular fertilizer is the property of the government, purchased for resale to AAA farmers, and therefore not subject to state laws or state authority.

In an effort to bend the knee in the public mind, AAA officials attempt to set up a smoke screen by claiming that the action of the Commissioner is hindering the effort in delivering fertilizer shipments needed for crop production in the emergency. Bureaucratic and baloney! The AAA program was in operation long before this country became involved in the war. But for bureaucratic bungling and governmental interference, Florida today would be producing 10 times the amount of foodstuffs she does produce. Take sugar for example: Like Henry Kaiser builds ships, the state of Florida can feed the nation if governmental bureaucracy would just take its bulldozed boot off her neck.

Under the AAA plan, large quantities of fertilizer are purchased from favored manufacturers who approve of their plan, and that is shipped in big lots to farming communities where it is distributed to individual farmers. The idea is to control national distribution, stifle free enterprise and "save" the farmers.

It is a mighty dangerous practice patterned after similar operations in totalitarian countries. What will it profit the American farmer to save a few dollars on his fertilizer if it return he loses completely his independence?

Despite the fact that Florida produces vast quantities of superphosphates, available at numerous points within the state, the AAA insists on shipping superphosphates into this state from such points as Mason, Charleston and Savannah, literally carrying coals to Newcastle, and forcing an added and unnecessary burden on an already overtaxed transportation system. Pige Mr. Eastman!

On the other hand, maybe "Pige Mr. Mayo, State Rights are sacred. Mayo State Constitution are just scraps of paper. Mayo Bureaucrats Domination is for the people, by the people and for the people. Ad it up yourself and see what you get."

Leesburg Cotton Needs Pickers

Leesburg, Oct. 1.—(FNS)—See Island Cotton growers in Lake County are finding it next to impossible to get labor for picking, although they have offered pickers $3 a pound, a half cent above the rate.

Many workers have left cotton fields to pull Bermuda grass at 15c a bushel, used for making airports, which nets them from four to five dollars a day.

Hugh Bourlay, local cotton grower, in alarm over the situation and states it may be necessary to call on patriotic citizens to give a hand to save the crop as was done recently in Georgia where thousands men, housewives and school children worked in the fields.

FSCW Students Are Intent On Education

Tallahassee, Oct. 1.—The student body of Florida State College for Women this year is attacking more seriously than ever the problem of securing the maximum amount of education. These 14 definite steps among the college students toward taking the college which would contribute directly or indirectly to winning the war. Many of the usual social and extra-curricular activities have been either modified or cut out because of the lack of transportation and other war-time restrictions. A concerted effort to solve problem. The general plan for the campaign program of entertainment includes a planned party for each Saturday night of the year to be held alternately in the college homes of the students and in the Student-Athletic building. In case a month has a fifth Saturday, the 14 societies on the campus will be hostesses and the Day Students Organization will entertain on the campus.

Once each month there will be a dance held in the auditorium of the Student-Athletic building. This dance will be informal but will be somewhat larger than the regular Saturday night parties, which of a necessity must be limited to 100.

However, it is the idea of the authorities to see that each girl on the campus has an opportunity to attend as many of the parties as possible considering the size of the student body.

"Connect" and "Disconnect" Service Plan

We all know WHY we should save rubber for our country. Our big problem is HOW to save it—and yet provide good Sunshine Service.

One plan now in effect concerns the connection and disconnection of electric service for homes and stores.

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

Our service men will make but one trip a day on a route that has been scheduled the previous day (instead of making many trips on scattered assignments).

Your orders requesting service "connected" or "disconnected" will therefore be worked the business day following receipt of your order.

Please make requests for this service between 8:00 A. M. and 5:00 P. M. week days or on Saturdays between 8:00 and 12:00 noon.

For example, if you want your service connected or disconnected on Thursday, please call us between 8:00 and 5:00 P. M. on Wednesday.

We realize that this plan will not be quite as convenient for you, but we ask your assistance and your cooperation because of wartime conditions that make this change necessary. It is just one of the many ways that we can help WIN THE WAR.

What The Movies Have To Offer During The Coming Week

I am proud to give you "My Favorite Blonde," (Madelaine Carroll) a honey if there ever was one—and you can take Bob Hope's word for it—and mine, she's a sweetheart in any man's language. Well Bob and Madeline are teamed in the Sunday-Monday frolic, and what a team they make! Bob travels 3,000 miles with Madeline dodging Nazi agents and running into more thrilling adventures than anyone can expect to encounter in a lifetime. At any rate, I give this show a big sincere pat on the back. The cast is super—the direction is ace—the story is so good, and the whole darn picture is a man's sized WOW!

ed by such favorites as, Don Massey, Jon Hall, Peter Lynde, Sir Cedric Hardwicke and J. Edward Bromberg, and a host of other well known featured players. The story is from H. G. Wells, one of the world's best known writers, and deals with an invisible man in an entirely different manner than anything as yet attempted. This invisible man invades the Reich, and during the course of his wanderings he terrifies Germany by sheer endurance. Here is something new in the war of a "superscience" drama, and I feel sure it is one that will give you one hour and thirty minutes of real throat gripping entertainment.

This picture, "Invisible Agent" moving into the Prince Tuesday should be a very interesting play since it has an excellent cast head a fine bunch of guys and gals, do this one and I mean they really do it. The locale is in my home town, Seattle, Washington, where I romped around in rompers and earned my A. B. C.'s, so I may be a little partial to the story. At any rate, it's the story of a killer and a girl trapped in the first air raid—and believe me you'll be a kooky story with no punches pulled—and you'll say when you see it—It's a knockout!

On this same bill comes Mr. District Attorney. Now right off the start I'll have to tell you this is an "oldie," so you have been warned. Anyhow, it's the story of a young district attorney who turns detective in order to turn in a gang of crooked politicians.

Porter Lorre in this one and he commits a couple of nice murders before the story is told. That's all I can give you on this one.

On the Friday night I put my hand on "Men of Texas" and really believe this is a good one. Why? Because it has a swell story, which has undergone a fine treatment of old direction—again, the cast is as good as they could throw into it—there's Robert Stack, Brod Crawford, Jackie Cooper, Anne Gwynne and Leo Carrillo. And there's not a football here in the whole mob. Would you want any better reason for your choosing a show of this character and telling you it was good? I think not and I'll see you there!

I don't go too much for the show that teams with this Men of Texas. The show I am talking about is "The Gay Vagabond." It is a story about family life starring an old friend and trouping buddy of mine Roscoe Karns. Roscoe and I trouped with the Redman Stock Company and he was a leading man in those days—and he was a darn good "heart throb" he must be. Well, Roscoe, having turned a little bit older—aren't we all?—has gone in for comedy and makes some very good snicker shows. It just may be that I'll miss on this one, but I think you will have one good show on the bill and that will be the one I chose.

Hear yet hear yet! All you members of the Six Shooters Club. The Ranglebustlers is the cowboys who gallop in with "Saddle Mount Round-up"—it's as fine as an occasional Western frolic, as one could expect to see at any time. Saddle up, you sons of the lone prairie, holster your sling shots and let's go with the Busters on their thrilling ride to adventure!

Next to the last chapter of "Laughing Matter" that gal has my heart beating backward, and I'll sure be glad when she and her pals get out of the jam they're in as I can rest well at night. Hey, the shorts sure look good this week end.

Either was talking to Moscovitz and says Hitty: "Those damned Americans are a caution. With out being made to do so, they're financing a big part of this war buying war stamps and bonds!" Was he talking about you?

You can now buy bonds at the Prince and Everglades Theaters with every bond you purchase at the box office you are present with a complimentary ticket to the show. See you at the movies!

Air Corps Needs Technicians

West Palm Beach, Oct. 1 (FNS)—Experienced technicians between the ages of 45 and 50 will now be accepted for enlistment with the Army Air Corps, the War Department announced.

Minor physical defects will not disqualify applicants as men in the former I-B classification are now being enrolled.

It is pointed out that ratings decrease rapidly for technicians and properly qualified men are given commissions.

Applicants are urged to apply at the Army recruiting office at Morrison Field, West Palm Beach, or to the nearest Army recruiting station.

Goodrich Ready To Build Tires

Akron, Oct. 1 (FNS)—The B. F. Goodrich Rubber Company announced this week that it was prepared to enter immediate production of tires from reclaimed rubber for civilian cars, should they be ordered as a result of the Lathrub rubber report.

"We are satisfied that from a technical and from a manufacturing standpoint the rubber industry can provide the country's motorists with the replacement tires they need for essential driving, using available reclaimed rubber and other materials now being produced under the government's program, when these become available," said John L. Collier, Goodrich president.

Such tires, Collier said, would give good service if motorists comply with the new driving regulations and exercise care in the protection from cuts, bruises and similar damage.

Spends $85,000 To Become Governor

Atlanta, Oct. 1 (FNS)—General Ellis Arnall Monday announced that he spent $85,000 in his successful campaign for the Georgia Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Arnall's expenses were the highest recorded by any Georgia candidate since 1908. Prior to then, records of campaign expenditures were not kept by the state. The next highest figure was the $20,000 spent by Columbus B. Blythe, unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1940. Gov. Eugene Talmadge, who won over Blythe in that year, spent $40,000. Talmadge has not yet listed his 1942 campaign expenses, but must do so by Tuesday.

Attorney General Explains Voting

Tallahassee, Oct. 1.—General election voting by Floridians in the armed services outside the state will be limited to election of members of Congress.

Attorney General Tom Watson advised Secretary of State, R. O. Grayson that the soldiers and sailors not able to vote in person would not be eligible to ballot on the constitutional amendments submitted by the 1941 legislature. They also will not be eligible to vote for state officials.

War ballots will be distributed by Secretary of State Gray to soldiers who apply for them. The ballots will be returned to him for distribution to the counties where they will be counted by election officials.

Secrecy of the ballot will be protected by having the ballots sealed inside a plain envelope, which will be mailed in another envelope.

A sermon entitled "The Essence of Brotherhood" will be delivered Sunday morning at the eleven o'clock service by Pastor B. B. Jordan. Much is being written and spoken at this time through out the world on the basis of a brotherhood of all peoples that will cause possibly a lasting peace. A general invitation is given to the public to attend the services of the Canal Point Baptist church and hear this subject discussed. Sunday School Rally Day will be observed beginning at 10:00 a. m. The new teachers and officers will take their places. Pupils will be promoted to the higher departments according to ages.

Mrs. L. W. Armstrong and her mother, Mrs. B. H. Redner, plan to leave this weekend for a visit with relatives in Louisville, Ky. From Louisville Mrs. Redner will go to Washington, D.
